WELCOME!

Dear Reader,

This January I have the privilege to reveal the ten selected Emerging Writers for 2026, chosen by our guest curators, who had the brilliant (and difficult!) job of reading all the entries and finally selecting the finalists.

Congratulations to the ten writers, and thank you to everyone who submitted their work!

Year after year, we are astounded by the calibre of entries this prize attracts. This year, over 650 writers entered. Seeing so many writers being bold, brave, and finding their way into our programme really highlights how important this prize is for emerging writers.

Now, these ten new voices not only deserve recognition, but real and sustained support. With your help, we can create a life-changing opportunity for each writer through our six-month mentorship programme, where they can learn, connect, take part in our 2026 Festival, and have their work published in English for the first time.

Thank you for your support and trust—in potential, in a story's earliest sparks, and ultimately in the universal language of literature.

HOW IT WORKS

Each year, we uncover Indonesia's next generation of literary voices. From across the archipelago, hundreds of submissions are rigorously reviewed by an independent curatorial board, with a select group of emerging novelists, poets, and playwrights published and launched at the Ubud Writers & Readers Festival.

The Emerging Writers Anthology is a proven launchpad for Indonesia's most promising new literary voices. As a bilingual publication, it delivers professional English translation—often for the first time—unlocking international visibility and long-term career opportunities. With 1,212 submissions in 2025, it stands among Indonesia's most far-reaching and impactful literary initiatives.

For sponsors, this is a high-impact legacy investment: championing new voices, expanding access, and carrying Indonesian stories onto the global stage.

This programme is one of the most awaited ones because of its prestige and sustainable impact... I hope this programme will drive these writers' potential and motivation to consistently write.

THE 2026 PROGRAMME

In 2025, we issued a national call to Indonesia's most compelling writing creatives, inviting work that confronts the realities of contemporary Indonesia, from social change and history to the forces reshaping life in the digital age.

The response was extraordinary. More than 650 submissions. 21 provinces. One defining selection.

From across the archipelago, 10 exceptional writers were chosen through a rigorous curatorial process led by A. Nabil Wibisana, Cynthia Hariadi, and Siska Yuanita.

THE IMPACT

Selected writers receive professional mentoring, editorial development, and English translation—often for the first time—before being published and launched at the Ubud Writers & Readers Festival, Southeast Asia's leading festival of words and ideas. For many, this marks the beginning of a sustained literary career.

Every patron contribution strengthens the programme. Higher patron levels directly underwrite writers and secure long-term cultural impact.
